Stage 1 — FIFA World Cup 2026 Prediction Report

Argentina	France	Germany	Mbappe
Most likely winner	Runner-up	Dark horse	Player to watch
78% confidence	65% confidence	45% confidence	Rated 95 / 100

Argentina lead every key metric: FIFA Rank #1, form score 92/100, and a dominant 3-0 opening win over Algeria on June 16. France's Kylian Mbappe (95/100 rating, 22 goals this season) makes them the most dangerous runner-up. Germany's 7-1 demolition of Curacao — the tournament's biggest scoreline — signals dark-horse potential backed by four World Cup titles.

Argentina risk: Messi (38) fatigue in late rounds could collapse attack.	France risk: History of underperforming despite elite individual talent.	Germany risk: 56% historical win rate trails the top 3; no WC title since 2014.
